You Notice It After

It was already there.

You didn’t see it then.

Not while it was happening.

Not when it passed.

Only after—you notice.

Something lingers.

Something you can’t go back to.

But still—you notice it after.